IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals has rendered an important decision, which will have a far reaching effect. Trained nurses will no longer be permitted to administer an anesthetic in Kentucky even when working under the direct supervision of a surgeon who is performing an operation. Only those persons regularly licensed as practicing physicians will be allowed to undertake this task.

The court's decision is the outgrowth of a suit instituted by Dr. Louis K. Frank, of Louisville, and Miss Margaret Hatfield, a nurse employed by him.

Miss Hatfield in a period extending over several years had administered anesthetics in several hundred cases under the direction of Dr. Frank. Then came the ruling of the State Board of Health that the performing of such a service constituted a practice of medicine, and that it could be performed legally only by those persons licensed as practicing physicians. Soon afterward suit was filed by Dr. Frank and Miss Hatfield to test the authority of the Board of Health to issue such a ruling.

The court found the provision of the law pertaining to physicians and nurses as a police regulation designed for the protection of society, and that the interest of the individual must be set aside.

Acknowledgment was made of the fact that no question has been raised in regard to the competency of the nurse. But, it is asserted, to permit a deviation from the strict letter of the law might set a precedent which would result in opening the door to practices opposed to the public interest.

W. C. T. U. NOTES.

Both houses of the Oregon legislature have passed a measure providing for the annual observance in the public schools of Francis E. Willard day. It has been signed by Governor Whitcomb.

The Alaska Prohibition bill has been passed by the senate and the house without the formality of roll call.

Liquor has recently been banished from the buffet and dining cars of the Union Pacific overland trains.

One quarter of the daily papers in the United States refuse to take liquor advertisements.

"The large increase in the production of distilled spirits during the year was occasioned by the demand for alcohol and high proof spirits to be denatured and for export to the European countries."—Report of Commissioner of Revenue.

A vast amount of labor is wasted in producing, transporting and distributing alcoholic beverages. It is estimated that the muscular manpower expended, not in making, but merely in handling, the output of the liquor factories is sufficient to set up and pull down the great Pyramid of Egypt nine times a year, although it took 100,000 men a generation to build it.

"The nation that is sucked on alcohol is doomed."—Premier Lloyd George.

The Scientific American is authority for the statement that the most dangerous classes of ruffians in our large cities are beer drinkers. Intellectually a stupor amounting to paralysis arrests the reason, changing all the higher faculties into mere automatism, sensual, selfish, varied only with paroxysms of anger.

Spring brings all kinds of weather and with it comes cold and the revival of winter coughs and hoarseness. DON'T SPILL THE BEANS.
I'm weary of the noise and the fuss, That frets me every day, The while I do a hand's deeds, Or pause betimes to pray; On every side I hear the cry, That frights me in my dreams, "Be careful what you're doing there, Or else you'll spill the beans!"

There was a time when such a cry, Was full of point and pith, But soaring prices have reduced, Its wisdom to a myth. The time has long since passed away, From these terrestrial scenes, When I could take a single chance, At spilling of the beans.

I'm not a boob or millionaire, Nor yet a child in teens, That I should handle recklessly, Such priceless gems as beans. Once I could eat and be content, In days when clad in jeans— But woes and sorrows threaten now, The man who spills the beans.

Of all the things in the market, That I can ill afford To spill—are these luxurious beans Which up to heaven have soared. I'd just as soon eat peacock's tongues The food of kings and queens, As dare invite the curse of Fate, By spilling of the beans.

City Teachers Examinations

For white teachers at the Caldwell High School and for colored teachers at the Colored High School. D. W. Bridges, Superintendent of Schools City of Richmond. 3t

How Long Have You Had That Cough

Coughs that "hang on" and refuse to yield to ordinary remedies are caused by low-grade pneumonia. They are the kind that may bring you face to face with serious lung or bronchial trouble before you know it.

If that stubborn, chronic cough of yours is due to weak lungs, to chronic lung disease or to bronchial infection, it's time to get after it in earnest, time to check it, and to use the most effective, safest way to do so is through the use of the great European Lung and Bronchial formula.

LUNG GERMINE

This is not cough syrup. It's lung and bronchial medicine and one of the most beneficial agents for such conditions. It is in every kind of incipient lung and bronchial trouble. It strikes at the root of the trouble, the lung and bronchial infection, the low-grade pneumonia, the chronic lung disease, the chronic bronchitis, the chronic cough.

Nothing Better for Weak Lungs and Chronic Bronchitis
Hundreds of sufferers from incipient lung and bronchial troubles say it cured them when everything else they tried failed.

Quickly try one bottle of Lung Germine and see for yourself how quickly and splendidly it acts. A large bottle costs only $5.00 and you are not satisfied with the benefit you get, you can get a smaller bottle for only $2.50. Write one bottle ask the druggist for your money back.

Warning: There is only one genuine, guaranteed Lung Germine and there is nothing else like it.

FEDERAL FARM LOAN BANK FOR LOUISVILLE.

The Federal Farm Loan Board in Washington has at last taken active steps toward the organization of a Federal Farm Loan Bank in Louisville.

The officers and directors of the new Federal Farm Loan Bank at Louisville, have been selected and they are as follows: President and Director, Walter Howell, Union City, Tennessee; Vice president and Director, John P. Brennan, Columbus, O.; Secretary and Director, Jas. B. Davis, Brazil, Ind.; Director, Harry A. Sommers, Elizabethtown, Ky.; Registrar, Attorney, A. C. Dulaney, Bowling Green, Ky.

These men will constitute the active executive officers of the new Federal Farm Loan Bank and they are said to be men of experience, high standing and ability. It is understood that they will come to Louisville and proceed to organize the Federal Farm Loan Bank there on or before March 22, 1917, and all the preliminary steps have been taken in the matter, and it only remains for the directors above named to proceed to carry out the plans for the new Bank which have already been mapped out and matured.

There is great interest all over Kentucky and adjoining states in the personnel of the Board of Directors, and Managers of the Federal Farm Loan Bank in Louisville, and the sections made for those important positions seems to have given general satisfaction to the farmers and business men who are so vitally interested in the promotion of this great enterprise.

It is said that the directors will rent some building in the center part of Louisville, at an early date, to be used as the headquarters of the bank, and will at once get in communication with the secretaries of all the local Farm Loan Associations, which have been organized in various parts of Kentucky and adjoining states.

They will immediately send out blank forms to these local organizations to be filled out and returned, and after this preliminary work is completed, the new system will have been organized and put into practical operation.

The following telegram just received from Washington City indicates that the National Farm Loan Board is at last awakened to the importance of putting the various banks throughout the country, in operation at once, so that the farmers may have the benefit of loans which may be needed to aid them in making their 1917 crops.

"Washington, March 19—Late tonight it was learned that the presidents of the twelve Farm Loan Banks including the Louisville Bank, have been summoned by telegram to meet here next Thursday to take all necessary steps to inaugurate the farm loan system. The interest rate to farmers will be fixed at that meeting, it probably will be uniform (two per cent throughout the country). Uniform methods of banking will be considered, and all presidents will be made acquainted with all decisions bearing on their duties. With the announcement of Spokane bank officials last night the organization of the twelve banks has been completed."

STEMMERY FOR LEXINGTON.
The Liggitt & Myers Tobacco Co. is planning a stemmery for Lexington. The company has a re drying plant in the Blue Grass capital, and later the tobacco is shipped to Louisville to be stemmed. It is claimed by the proposed new arrangement the company can save considerable money and labor will be benefited.

MR. LEEDS' PLATFORM.

To the Citizens of Richmond:

In announcing my candidacy for Mayor of the city sometime ago, it was my intention at that time to announce at a later date, and at a time, when the voters would be more interested in the question of the nomination of the primary election, my ideas of the needs and necessities of the city, incorporated into something approaching a platform of principles.

I have been a citizen of Richmond for many years, and have reared my family here, and it has been a part of my life to live as to merit and have the respect of my fellow citizens, as an honorable, upright christian man. Having been a close observer of the needs of the city, and for a short while one of the members of its city councilmen, I have been in a position to see and to know its needs, and to better by reason of my short experience in connection with its affairs to apply the remedy where in my judgment the application of the remedy would be most effective.

To make a city at once attractive enough to invite outsiders, and for the preservation of our citizens who now reside here, the first matter of importance which would be considered by me in the capacity of my official duty, would be to have a clean city, which means both from a moral and a physical standpoint, which would include the very best streets built by competitive bids and required to exceed bond for the performance of the work in accordance with the stipulations in his contract, and not to the lowest and best bidder, which often results in favoritism; the construction of a sewerage system adequate to relieve all the distressed portions of the city, the contract for which would be let as herein before stated, which can be built for a much less amount than was recently suggested that we vote bonds to cover the cost of such a system; to encourage in every way possible the educational interests of our city, including the Normal School, Madison Institute and any private school, as well as our public schools both white and colored; to encourage in every way the maintenance of the Patti A. Clay Infirmary, and to contribute to it in such sums as are not incompatible with economy, as well as all other charitable works; that the water and light systems shall be extended to those parts of the city, and to the benefit of those who heretofore have paid the same tax rate without receiving commensurate service with the tax paid; to have each officer of the city devote his entire time to the duties of his office and demand a strict enforcement of the laws of the city without fear or favor, and to this end, will do all in my power to eradicate infractions of the local laws; to require the very best service from all public service corporations, which means among others, better telephone service, pure water, and good lights.

Whether elected or not, I shall continue to live among this people and desire to enjoy the benefits to be derived from a city government carried out along the principles herein set out; should, however, the good citizens of Richmond desire to entrust to me the high honor of the nomination and election to its chief executive office, I hereby promise, that with the help of God, and the co-operation of the citizens, including the Chamber of Commerce, that I shall discharge every duty devolving upon me, with fidelity, courage and honesty.

Very respectfully,
W. L. LEEDS.

CONFERENCE OF TEMPERANCE WORKERS.

Plans have been completed for a conference in Washington March 28, of representatives of all the temperance organizations of the United States, in an effort to effect a union of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association in Lexington December 28, 1911, S. W. Grathwell, field secretary of the I. P. A., was in Lexington last week, and said that he had received notice from Harry S. Warner, executive secretary of the I. P. A., that the executive committee of the association will meet in Washington, March 27, to consider future plans for the national federation. The National Temperance Council has issued a call to all anti-liquor societies to send representatives to the conference. The Anti-Saloon League and the Prohibition party are working together in New York for the first time in the history of the movement, and leaders have announced that they expect a strong and compact organization of all liquor forces for the campaign in 1920 to "make the nation dry."

The legislatures of Arkansas, Oregon and Tennessee have passed drastic prohibition measures, which have been signed by their respective governors.

SHOCKED.
Mr. Louis Stagner, who is employed in the construction of the front in James building on North Second st. was severely shocked and much worse scared than hurt Monday. Mr. Stagner was upon a step ladder doing some drilling with an electric drill when he came in contact with an electric wire, or rather the ground wire. This seemed to have electrically charged the whole front of the building, and Mr. Stagner danced a lively "fox trot" with both hands and feet. Some one went to Mr. Stagner's rescue but he stuck like a leech. Finally somebody was thoughtful enough to throw the switch and the unfortunate man who had gone thru the harrowing experience, dropped to the pavement, badly spraining his right arm. Mr. Stagner was back on the job Tuesday morning, and while his arm was somewhat out of commission, he was still in the ring. His many friends are rejoicing that he did not receive any severe or fatal injuries.

NEVER HAD BUT TWO FRIENDS.

President Wilson has given a pardon to John Walton, a negro Federal prisoner in jail at London. Walton lived in Bell county and was convicted at the November term of the Federal court of perjury. He was sentenced to one year in the federal prison, which was reduced by Judge Cochran to one year in jail. Walton decided to appeal to President Wilson for executive clemency. He wrote a letter to the chief executive, telling him he was spending his last cent to have it typewritten. The shock of getting the pardon was too much for Walton, and when it was handed to him, he fell on the concrete floor and was knocked unconscious. When he recovered, he said he never had but two friends—Woodrow Wilson and Abraham Lincoln.

Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson, two of our most distinguished Americans, are indeed, splendid friends to have. This humble negro has been fortunate in having two such men as his friends. Fortune has surely smiled upon him. A very able writer has said: "We may have hundreds of acquaintances, but the most favored can usually count his real friends on the fingers of one hand."

We are reminded of that beautiful story of Damon and Pythias. When Damon was under sentence of death, he had but one friend in all Syracuse. It was Pythias, the companion of his brighter and better days. Pythias was true. Dionysius, the tyrant, who had sentenced Damon to death, was appalled at the grand display of loyalty and devotion of these two men, and in rescinding the death penalty he had imposed upon Damon, he said: "I would give my kingdom for one such friend."

SCHOOL FIGURES.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction V. O. Gilbert has prepared figures showing the cost of education in Kentucky as compared with other states.

The school population of Kentucky is 600,880 and the per capita expenditure is $2.76. Based on the attendance it is $22.99. The cost of carrying a pupil through the first eight grades is $183.20, based on the attendance. Of this cost $3,024,554 comes out of the state funds, the state per capita being $4.37.

Tennessee has a per capita of $1.92. In that state $905,183 is appropriated annually for education, spending $13.61 per capita of attendance at school; Alabama with a per capita of $4.14 appropriates $2,983,922 and spends $15.32 annually on each child attending. Mississippi with a per capita of $2.35 appropriates $1,454,942 annually and spends $9.30 on each child.

The state of Texas appropriates $4,291,795 and spends $25.88 annually on each child attending. The per capita of that state is $3.73. Ohio with a per capita of $1.83 appropriates $2,506,714 and spends on each child $48.82; Illinois with a per capita of $2.05 spends $42.92.
